Lizbeth, I just called Mr. Rees, owner of the unit. I left a voicemail and asked him to return my call to discuss if his unit is finished. I will let you know when he returns my call, but would recommend Elias move on to other units in need of reconstruction.

Thank you,
Rick

Good Afternoon Rick,

I am reaching out because we may have a discrepancy with the list you supplied above.

~~17630 Captiva Island was visited by one of ours today, Elizabeth and happen to catch the homeowner at home. Elizabeth was going to get measurements and the resident advised her that her unit was already completed by someone else. Wasn't sure if this may have been put on the list in error. We wanted to make sure the final list provided was correct for proposals and permitting purposes. Can you please confirm the list we are working with is correct and these units are part of the Elias Brothers agreement.~~

Thank you kindly,

Obviously, I know what is at stake, It appears to be a simple mistake. Was money spent and the permits pulled? I'm just trying to figure it out to make sure this unit should not be on the list.
If it is a mistake I apologize and we will revise the list and keep moving forward.

Rick,

Some of these permits cost $200 a piece, on top of over head costs associated to acquire them. Time spent trying to measure and build reports for units that don't need work take away from our ability to focus on units that do require assistance. I believe Lizbeth is just asking for a solid accurate list.
